These days in the year of grace 1547 written by me the scribe of the court of the King of Castile

J

In the name of the Lord God our Lord and King of Castile and Leon and of Aragon and Sicily and of the Kingdoms of Valencia and of Majorca and of the Kingdoms of Murcia and Granada

Whereas we have seen and understood that the King of France has taken possession of the Kingdom of Navarre and of the County of Foix and of the County of Roussillon and of the County of Cerdagne

J

And whereas we have seen and understood that the King of France
has taken possession of the Kingdom of Navarre and of the County of Foix and of the County of Roussillon and of the County
of Cerdagne

Whereas we have seen and understood
that the King of France
has taken possession of the Kingdom of Navarre and of the County of Foix and of the County of Roussillon and of the County
of Cerdagne

Juan Nuñez de Prado

Whereas we have seen and understood
that the King of France
has taken possession of the Kingdom of Navarre and of the County of Foix and of the County of Roussillon and of the County
of Cerdagne

in the name of the Lord

One page of a medieval manuscript in a Gothic script. The text is dense and appears to be a continuation of a narrative or a list of items.

Handwritten marginal note in Gothic script, possibly a reference to a specific page or section.

Large, decorative flourish or scribble on the right side of the page, extending downwards.
