

Main body of text in a medieval Gothic script, containing a long legal or administrative document with several large decorated initials in red and blue.

Horizontal lines of text below the main body, likely serving as a table of contents or a list of references.

Left column of text in the lower section, containing a list of names and titles.

Right column of text in the lower section, continuing the list of names and titles.

Text block below the central seal, possibly a signature or a specific note.

Text block at the bottom of the lower section, likely a concluding statement or a date.

